

Education is being transformed by personalized AI tutors. These systems adapt to a student's individual learning pace, identifying areas where they struggle and providing targeted exercises. Consequently, traditional classroom dynamics are shifting towards a more individualized approach.